Gesamtbewertung mit Score inklusive Branchenvergleich

Score: 250

Industry comparison: 494

The score is a statistical measure that predicts the probability of a serious payment default. The score has a value between 250 and 700 points. The higher the number of points, the less likely a payment default is. The score is essentially determined by the following three factors: Number, status and degree of actuality of the known payment defaults. The greater the number of individual events, the more serious the status of the individual event and the more recent the individual events are, the higher their evaluation. The score of the queried company, the direct sector and the average score of all companies in Switzerland are displayed.
